BUILDING CODE REQUIREMENTS AND SPECIFICATION FOR MASONRY STRUCTURES

For the first time Building Code Requirements and Specification for Masonry Structures, TMS 402/602, has been published solely under the banner of The Masonry Society. This Standard was previously published jointly with the American Concrete Institute and the American Society of Civil Engineers. This change recognizes The Masonry Society as the accepted professional organization of the masonry industry.

The TMS 402/602 contains changes for ease of use, including:

- Removing redundancy between the Code and Specification
- Simplifying Testing and Inspection Quality Assurance Tables
- Simplifying prescriptive requirements into Table form
- Introducing requirements for Field and Lab Technician Certification

The expanded commentaries for both the Code and Specification provide insight on the intent of the code and clarify interpretation of globally written code language. Purchasing a copy of this code-referenced material standard will keep the user abreast with the latest masonry technology.
